Good morning. Welcome to:

INTERNATIONAL SPACE WEATHER INITIATIVE

ISWI

ISWI is a program of international cooperation to advance the space weather science by a combination of instrument deployment, analysis and interpretation of space weather data from the deployed instruments in conjunction with space data, and communicate the results to the public and students. ISWI is a follow-up activity to the successful HY 2007, but focusing exclusively on space
