Dear ISWI Participant:

I am pleased to forward to you a message that I received yesterday from Dr Ben Cotts, who is with the awesome "Global AWESOME Network." The message is between + and &.

+

Dear George,
Thanks for the email. We do indeed have a couple resources which we circulate for the Global AWESOME Network:

Our AWESOME website which we support and which all our hosts use:
<http://www-star.stanford.edu/~vlf/awesome>

An overview of the AWESOME/SID receivers and their application to education:
<http://vlf.stanford.edu/sites/default/files/publications/2008-04.pdf>

IEEE Article detailing the AWESOME receiver itself:
<http://vlf.stanford.edu/sites/default/files/publications/2010-01.pdf>

Whatever you feel would be most pertinent for the other ISWI members would be fine with us. Hope everything went well at the meeting yesterday.

-Ben

P.S. My some of the links didn't open properly in my browser window but did fine when I downloaded them using the direct link.

The AWESOME Project was first introduced by this newsletter in Volume 1, Number 2. I welcome resource links for other projects and instrument arrays --- so that I can share them with all ISWI participants.

Cordially yours,
